Our cooked ham

Producing traditional cooked ham since 1956

Ferrarini cooked ham is unique and unmistakable. It is distinguishable by its sweetly aromatic fragrance, its marbled pink colour and its inimitable flavour. The traditional recipe we use has made us undisputed leaders in the sector in Italy for more than 50 years. The secret behind this recipe for unparalleled cooked ham is the brine, which contains 21 carefully chosen aromatic herbs, and the extremely slow steam cooking which reaches the heart of our meats. Ferrarini therefore holds the secret to one of the products most closely associated with Italy. Ferrarini cooked ham does not contain lactose, milk protein, gluten or added polyphosphates.

Our cured ham

A slow patient curing for a sweet and delicate taste

It is on the banks of the River Parma, facing Langhirano, amongst the green hills of Parma, that our Hams are crafted. The sweet flavour of which is given by a natural ingredient: time. A slow patient curing in an environment where both the temperature and humidity are constantly controlled by using innovative technologies that have patents conceived and deposited by Ferrarini.

Our salami

Old recipes

Our range of salami, made following traditional methods from Emilia and Brianza, comes from carefully chosen pigs. The lean and fatty parts of the meat are ground relatively finely, following an ancient recipe, and seasoned with salt, pepper, herbs and spices, before being wrapped in natural or artificial casing.
